The U.S. hike in H-1B visa fees exposes India's dependence on foreign job markets. Analyse its implications and suggest measures for India to reduce this reliance.

By 2024, approximately 2 lakh indians are applied for H-1B visa which shows massive depend Introduction on foreign job markets.

Good start with statistics about H-1B visa applications. But you should also briefly mention the U.S. fee hike issue and India's reliance on foreign job markets more clearly.

Body

You wrote some relevant points like skill gap, inflation, and lack of infrastructure. However, your analysis is too general and not directly linked to IT sector and workforce impacts. Try to add points on brain drain, remittances, and geopolitical concerns. Measures like "Make in India," better lifestyle, and transparent governance are good, but they should be more specific to reducing dependence on foreign jobs.

Conclusion

You concluded with "Viksit Bharat 2047" but it is very generic. A stronger ending would connect back to the question—India must reform domestic job policies and skill ecosystem to reduce visa dependence.

1) Gap between skill & Employment

Most of students land in different job which have no connection to their degree

E.g: Engineering graduate works in Media.

2) Inflation Crisis - The Indian economy reached 4th in world but the inflation rate rised and cost of living effect the daily life.

E.g: Rapid migration from India to other countries.
